

Here's the Latest on the Aliens

Written by Grant Cameron

Wednesday, 04 January 2012 03:30 - Last Updated Wednesday, 04 January 2012 04:25

Democracy must be something more than two wolves and a sheep voting on what to have for dinner. James Bovard

Well the results are back on the Freedom of Information Act requests filed with the Obama White House. The seven FOIAs were filed to try and determine what happened behind the scenes when the Office of Science and Technology Office (often referred to as the office for the President's Science Advisor) replied to a ET related petition addressed to President Obama. That petition asked Obama to "formally acknowledge an extraterrestrial presence engaging the human race." As expected, the results are not encouraging.

The FOIA documents released by the OSTP, totaling about 50 pages, can be summed up by one line written by the OSTP public relations officer Phil Larson whose signature is attached to the White House ET petition reply. In an e-mail to David Weaver and Bob Jacobs at NASA, Larson stated, "We got tagged with drumming up a 'please acknowledge the aliens' petition from 'We The People' feature on WhiteHouse.org."

The FOIA Results

The first FOIA filed with the OSTP asked what the OSTP office had used for research to produce their official government statement that there is "no credible evidence" that ETs have visited Earth. The answer according to the FOIA was nothing – they had no documents in the office on the subject of UFOs, or extraterrestrials – not a single piece of paper. (This OSTP claim is at odds with an FOIA that they answered in March 2011 where they did find "UFO" documents – see

<http://www.scribd.com/doc/70845097/All-UFO-documents-from-the-Executive-Office-of-the-Pre>

Here's the Latest on the Aliens

Written by Grant Cameron

Wednesday, 04 January 2012 03:30 - Last Updated Wednesday, 04 January 2012 04:25

ident-Office-of-Science-and-Technology-Policy

The official conclusion of “no credible evidence” by the White House is therefore not supported by any evidence itself – whether credible or not. The Obama White House has become like a student who produces a book report without reading the book. Even more unpardonable is the fact that the FOIA exposed the fact that the OSTP did not even look for any evidence. The conclusion – the scientific arm of White House has been caught rigging the experiment to come to a preordained conclusion. ...”