In the last few months I have done a lot of radio shows and lectures where I look at the possible influence by aliens in popular music. This research after both experiencers Chris Bledsoe and researcher Colin Andrews indicated to me that aliens were influencing some of the most famous musicians in modern western society to raise consciousness on an ET presence, and messages related to the environment, social causes, the ONENESS or the Universe, and the concept of replacing fear with love.

Of all the interviews I have done the one with experiencer Suzanne Chancellor who hosts the podcast Random Alien Brain Droppings was one of the best.
